

Fertility support

Help make the struggle to get pregnant a little easier

Infertility can take a heavy emotional and physical toll on your employees. The Fertility Support Program is here to help them face these issues and reduce:

- The number of babies admitted to the neonatal intensive care unit (NICU).
- Multiple births.
- Medical and pharmacy costs.

Round-the-clock support

The program's specially trained nurse care managers can answer your employees' questions about infertility, treatment and medication options, and finding the right doctors for their needs – as well as provide education and personalized support, 24/7.

Employees can get:

- Authorizations for outpatient and in-office infertility services.
- Care recommendations based on clinical practice guidelines.
- Referrals to high-quality reproductive endocrinologists from Anthem's network.

Additional program configurations include:²

- Pharmacy assistance — formulary management, customized dosing management and pre-approvals.
- Surrogacy and adoption support
- Elective egg-freezing

There's also an app!

The program's new mobile app, WINFertility Companion, allows members to:

- Communicate with a WINFertility nurse care manager by phone, text or email.
- Privately track multiple fertility-related activities.
- Set calendar reminders for doctor appointments, taking medications and other medical events.
- Get discreet alerts, like when ovulation starts.

¹ WINFertility: Results are based on 2002 and 2006 data for WIN's largest infertility group practice, serving a large regional health plan after WIN's protocols were implemented. These results take into account plan design, network utilization and reductions in multiple gestations/NICU admissions.
